

Pillar of Light Information Update

Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com, Steven S. Showers, Founder

Christmas Day
December 25, 2014
(Updated June 22, 2015)

In Three Parts:

[I. A Note to the Media:
How Long this Website
Will Stay Up is Not Certain](#)

II. THE PILLAR OF LIGHT Brings a Forewarning, and a Dispensation of Mercy

[III. THE BEGINNING
OF MERCY - THE FIRST
MITIGATION FACTOR](#)

- Home Renovation
- On the Subject of Racism
- THE RING OF FIRE - Racism
Allegations Surrounding the Republican Party Since 1964
- The Republican/Mormon
Alliance

I. A Note to the Media: How Long this Website Will Stay Up is Not Certain

Coming full circle to another Christmas holiday season, I wanted to observe the fact that when the Pillar of Light comes into full manifestation the American people will wonder, with an insatiable wonder, what does it mean? WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

As members of the media who will be covering this stupendous visual phenomena coast to coast, the people will look to you for the answers. And therefore I expect that the members of the media will have many questions for me as to the purpose of this phenomenal, magnificent, stupendous, and in some respects, explosive manifestation, and its reason for coming forth at this time.

Timing is Everything, December 14, 2014

Phenomenal it is. And magnificent too. And yes, explosive as well, because the first result of the manifestation of the Pillar of Light will be to explode the false belief in the materialist mind, that there is no God. All of the precarious and rickety, albeit towering scaffolding of delusion, psychological, emotional, and material, which the people have built upon the foundation of that illusion, will shake, it will rattle, and it will roll, and it will sway to and fro, and then, it will fall into a pile of rubble. And the world will be a better place for it. It is not possible that God, our Dear Heavenly Father, our Dear Heavenly Mother, I Am That I Am, whose hearts overflow with love for each one of us, could give their children in America and upon the earth, a greater Christmas Gift than this.

For the soul, the mind is the gateway to truth. And so, let the doors, long barred and bolted from within, be swung open. And let the light of truth flood into that mind now.

Yes, there will be many questions. But for some amount of time I will not be available to make any statements, nor to produce any press releases, nor to release any information beyond that which has been heretofore published on this website, Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com, regarding the Pillar of Light, and its association with the Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com Neon Sign project and the related legal battle with Ventura County government officials which is now in the appeal phase.

Your sole source for primary information, regarding the Pillar of Light and the Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com background, for some amount of time, will be the content of this website. Because of this, there are a couple of content and availability issues that my friends in the press should be aware of.

To begin with, I have preserved the historical record herein. All previous posts are left intact, including the original February 11, 2013 Pillar of Light Press Release, and the second, December 22, 2013 Pillar of Light Press Release, which is one-year-old today, associated with the December 25, 2013 dry run.

In relationship to the Press Release of December 22, 2013, you will see that I declared my intent therein to have the Pillar of Light Message Communication Document - Volume 1 ready for publication at the very moment the Pillar of Light would appear. And it was ready, at least as far as I understood what "ready" meant. One year later, and for various reasons, this is no longer possible, so references to that plan in the press release will not apply to present day circumstances.

At that writing the Pillar of Light Message Communication Document - Volume 1 stood at 241 pages, and it was my impression, at that point in time, that it was complete. Though I have learned that there is a difference in principle between a level of completeness that the current level of understanding allows, and the level of understanding that was actually required to achieve the level of completeness that the Heavenly Host was looking for. And so, time allows for greater depths of understanding to coalesce in the mind, levels of understanding that were important to include, and which were subsequently anchored in my mind, and which were included in the document over the last several months.

Today the Pillar of Light Message Communication Document - Volume 1 stands at nearly 500 pages, and it will expand beyond that point, given the fact that the approach of this Christmas Season and the imminent manifestation of the Pillar of Light has caught me midway through an important introductory dissertation, regarding the restoration of the constitutional order, which I believe will take several more weeks to complete. There is no possibility that this document could be ready by Christmas Day 2014. I am also aware that the structure and content of this important document should reflect the structure and content of unfolding circumstances associated with the people's response to the Pillar of Light as a visual phenomena, as a first-ever manifestation, in this age, of the Power of God's Love before the eyes of the people, and as the marker of the last known position of the Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com Neon Sign, confiscated by Ventura County government officials on August 5, 2013.

In regards to another content issue, that of the December 24, 2012 origin of the Pillar of Light project, I see that the first press release is silent on that subject, allowing for a mistaken impression to form in the mind that the Pillar of Light project could have been a product of my own mind. The second press release is more precise, characterizing the Pillar of Light project as an "assignment" but did not go into sufficient detail to make perfectly clear what the nature of the assignment was, and by whom it was assigned. To clarify this important subject area for the record, the Pillar of Light Project was given to me as an assignment in the early morning of December 24, 2012, in the form of a crystal clear vision. I was given to see a Pillar of Light tightly surrounding the Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com neon sign. The Pillar of Light was about 12 feet in diameter, rising into the sky as far as the eye can see, and it was visible for miles and miles around. I spent dozens of hours in a process of confirming the validity of the vision, and preparing myself, from that point forward, for its ultimate manifestation, a period of time which included navigating the various challenges associated with the jury trial over the legality of the sign installation itself, and its ultimate confiscation. Through all of that I always hoped and believed that the point of manifestation was always just around the corner. I would have never been able to accept the idea, at that time, or at any point along the way, that it would be a full two years before the Pillar of Light would come into manifestation. That God our Father and Mother had a specific agenda of internal education to unfold, was something that could only become apparent with the passage of time.

Our little brother, the western scrub jay, see the photo above, as he rises with a precious acorn in his beak, helps to make this important point that, timing is everything. But I would ask you, and I would ask you to think about this: Who was it that actually clicked the iphone camera shutter at that precise moment in time? Consider the degree of precision that we are talking about here. From the moment the blue jay stood there triumphant with that precious acorn in his beak, to the moment wherein he took flight, and was out of sight within the Ivy above, this could not have been more than one second, a very short period of time from the human perspective, which can be made to appear longer by expressing it in terms of milliseconds; one second divided into one-thousand compartments of equal length. The opening of the iphone shutter had to be very precise, opening at the precise one millisecond window, that would capture the precise moment when the blue jay exhibited to the onlooker this state of perfect symmetry in flight. Who is it that is consciously capable of selecting and capturing such a perfect moment in time? Who was it that actually clicked the iphone camera shutter at that precise moment in time? The answer to this question is very important to me.

Regarding the issue of the ongoing availability of the important information content of this website — 95% of the information of which resides on this single in-depth home page — I would alert the members of the media to this fact that it is uncertain how long this site will be accessible, making it advisable, in order to secure access to this reference material, that the page you are on be saved to your computer hard drive at your earliest opportunity, and at the same time, save a copy of the PDF version of this full statement, available at the links in the title area above, and at the bottom of the statement below.

I say this because I will not have the money to pay for what I anticipate to be an exponential rise in website traffic once the Pillar of Light is manifest, and once the people understand that this is the only source of information regarding it.

This is what I am thinking. When the Amazon Web Services (AWS) network center detects a spike in website traffic, given the magnitude of the spike, they will look at my account, and see that there is not a valid credit card associated with it. (The legal battle with Ventura County officials over the Romneys Racist Heart Dot com neon sign has destroyed my finances, leaving me with no money, and no income, and a number of cancelled credit cards.)

Amazon Web Services may allow the website to stay up, perhaps as a public service, or they may decide to shut it down. I will not be available to talk to them about this, for reasons that will become apparent once the Pillar of Light becomes manifest. On what basis therefore, they will make that decision is anyone's guess, so I would suggest to anyone who is interested in having access to this information on the subject of the Pillar of Light, and its background, that they save this webpage to their hard drive, and as quickly as possible, so that they will retain access to this information in the event the website is forced off line. As noted 95% of all information associated with the Pillar of Light and the Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com background, is on this single in-depth webpage. Most web browsers will allow you to save it with a single click.

II. THE PILLAR OF LIGHT Brings a Forewarning, and a Dispensation of Mercy

The meaning, and the purpose of the Pillar of Light falls within the framework of the Following Seven (7) Points:

1. Several fundamental Trends of Anti-Christ Sympathy, within the American Population, Have Passed the Point of No Return.
2. A Storm of Returning Karma Approaches.
3. Over the past 50 years, these trends of Anti-Christ sympathy have pulled the Nation completely off its Moral Foundation in God. No longer standing on the Rock of Truth, the Nation has No Hope in Remaining on its Feet in the midst of this Oncoming Storm. If the storm were to hit us today, the nation would fall, and it would be swept away. The waning of American prestige and fortune are but the leading edge of this storm front which has already reached the shores of America.
4. National Destruction is at the Door. It is Pounding Loudly.

5. But it is Not the Will of God our Father and Mother to see America destroyed, far from it. For America has a Divine Destiny to fulfill. But in the affairs of the earth, the Free Will of the People, rightly used, or wrongly used, determines the destiny of nations and planets.

6. For the people of America, and the Earth, the Pillar of Light comes as a last dispensation of mercy, and as the Only Hope for Holding the Balance in the midst of this Oncoming Storm, the Only Hope for Calling the People Back to their Moral Foundation in God Before the Storm Hits.

7. The Pillar of Light Comes as a final expression of mercy and hope to get the people's attention, to notify them of the egregious extent and nature of their errors, and to persuade them of the wisdom of reversing course in several fundamental areas.

The appearance of the Pillar of Light alerts America to an important fact. The storm mentioned above is Real and it is Powerful, and it is moving in our direction. Because the Pillar of Light has come into full manifestation, because it is visible to the eyes of all people, we know from this, that this is the signal, that the storm is on its way, and it cannot be turned back.

However, the Pillar of Light also brings with it, along with the alert, a dispensation of mercy. There is time to mitigate the intensity of this oncoming storm. There is time for the people to elicit from the Heart of God, a mitigation of the destructive impact that this oncoming storm will have upon America.

The question is, what will America look like after the storm passes? Will the whole of America look like a flattened Kansas town after a tornado has blown through? Or will the velocity, intensity, and trajectory of the tornado be mitigated, allowing some structures to be left standing? Homes and factories, roads and bridges, can be rebuilt, but that is not so easy with the institutional structures associated with our constitutional form of government. And that really is the most important question for America. Will America survive this oncoming storm as a free nation?

If no mitigation factors come into play, the answer is No, America will not survive as a free nation. Without mitigation, large scale destruction and political and geographic balkanization will fracture the continent. The principle of freedom will be no more than a sacred memory. However, if mitigation factors come into play in sufficient quantity, then it is possible that America and its constitutional structure will survive, along with the majority of the population who will remain free to rebuild.

The Pillar of Light will remain towering over the landscape of America to assist the people in overcoming the onslaught of doubt and scepticism that will attack every mind at the hearing of these words, allowing the people to stand steady, and to soberly reflect on what must be done to ensure the survival of America. Fix your mind on the magnitude of this Pillar of Light. In this regard, this is a Great Gift. In this magnitude is the Love of God our Father and Mother for their children, and their desire for these Children to wake up, and take the action necessary to understand why this storm has come upon them, and what they must do to mitigate it, and what they must do to guard America from ever receiving another such unwelcome (though self-inflicted) visitation.

The Pillar of Light Message Communication Document - Volume 1 will be released at some point in the next few months to explain all of these important points in a manner thorough enough, and sufficient enough in detail to enable the people to understand their predicament, for the goal of God our Father and Mother is for their Children to understand. As the storm front begins to push ashore, the people will know why, and they will know what to do.

III. THE BEGINNING OF MERCY THE FIRST MITIGATION FACTOR

To bring all available mitigation factors into play, including the first mitigation factor, the people must leap into action to reverse the most fundamental trends of Anti-Christ sympathy which have set this karmic storm into motion. These fundamental trends of Anti-Christ sympathy, all of which have been evaluated by the heavenly host to be irreversible, without Direct Divine Intervention, number seven (7) in total. God our Father and Mother, and the Heavenly Host in Their Service, cannot act without the freewill consent of the people. These trends of Anti-Christ sympathy have become embedded within the American culture by the freewill choice of the people, and they can only be ripped out, like so many poisonous weeds, and thrown into the trash can, by the freewill choice of the people. If the majority of Americans desire for their nation to fall into a pile of rubble, then it will fall into a pile of rubble. If a majority of Americans desire for their nation to survive, most especially as a free nation, then they must express that desire to God our Father and Mother through action. To elicit an act of mitigation from the Heart of God, the freewill remedial action of the people is required in each of these seven (7) areas.

Lives are on the line, and the very future of freedom in America as well, as we move to understand the first mitigation factor. Yes we have some time, but not a second of it should be wasted.

The search for a rational and reasonable basis for right action in this regard, must include the proper interpretation of the term "Anti-Christ", and the correct recognition of the trends thereof, which the people have anchored and institutionalized in a manner so concrete that they cannot be reversed or undone without Direct Divine Intercession. What does the term "Anti-Christ" mean? And what are the trends associated with the spirit of "Anti-Christ"?

Understanding these principles, and finding in that understanding an answer to these two questions is the first step we must take in ensuring that America can survive this oncoming storm.

On this Christmas Day 2014 — the single most important Christmas Day in the history of America, and the earth, a Christmas Day that will stand out in the memory of the people of this planet for thousands upon thousands of years — let the people of America initiate a very important process of reflection, on a national scale, regarding the degree to which the patterns of life in America and upon the earth correspond to the Teachings of Christ. What are the Teachings of Christ? What aspects of American Culture are in harmony with these Teachings? And what aspects of the American culture stand in direct opposition to these Teachings? To identify what is Pro-Christ, is the first step in properly identifying what is Anti-Christ.

Some people will say that this distinction doesn't matter, and we shouldn't be bothered with such a trifling intellectual exercise. But the Pillar of Light, alerting us to the oncoming storm, which will destroy our nation if we don't figure this out, tells us that not only does this matter, it is the key to the survival of the nation.

The essential message that the Master Jesus Christ brought to the earth 2,000 years ago, was centered on the preeminence of Love. And the term "Love" as he used it, in every situation where he used it, is to be interpreted as the capacity to value God our Father and Mother, and what they have Created, especially when it comes to their Children, no matter the color of their skin.

The capacity to value God, and what God has created, especially when it comes to their Children, no matter the color of their skin, is a capacity of the Heart. It is not a capacity of the mind, which focuses on what the eyes reveal concerning the different way things appear in the outer world. The capacity to Value God, and What God has created, is the central capacity of the Heart which has a vision faculty associated with it. Every time the Master Jesus Christ used the word "Love" he was pointing to the absolutely essential challenge before all people to develop this capacity of the heart.

The First Commandment, written down on that stone tablet so long ago, and carried to the people by the Prophet Moses, which the Master Jesus Christ spoke to, to Love the Lord your God, with your whole Heart, your whole Mind, and your whole Soul, points in the direction of developing the capacity to value God, and what God has Created, especially people, no matter the color of their skin.

The New Commandment, which the Master Jesus Christ gave to us, "to Love one another, as I have loved you," while inherently implied within the First Commandment, builds upon it, and brings into the open the inner workings.

The New Commandment, "to Love one another, as I have loved you," tells us directly, that in order to fulfill the First Commandment, we must develop the capacity to value our fellow man, no matter the color of their skin, as God our Father and Mother value these Children, whom they have Created; that we must gain direct access to the Perspective of God our Father and Mother, in terms of how much they value the Children which they have created.

The Master Jesus Christ, the Master of Love, is telling us that Love is the capacity of the heart to value our fellow man as God our Father and Mother value them, that the capacity to Love is essentially a state of Harmony with the value system of God our Father and Mother.

As we focus our attention on acquiring an increased degree of familiarity with this value system of God, we find very quickly, that this value system of God applies to us personally. As we focus our attention on how much God our Father and Mother love and value the people around us, we enter into a state of attunement with the degree of love, the degree of valuing, that God our Father and Mother extend to us individually, providing the soul with a very important foundation of self-worth. We find that the two domains of knowledge are one domain of knowledge, providing the soul with the essential psychological foundation for the maintenance of harmony in all relationships.

I am using the term love here in the same manner as before, as indicating a capacity to value. In God our Father and Mother, we see the capacity to value the Children they have created. And they do greatly value the Children they have created, no matter the color of their skin.

And because God is God, what God our Father and Mother value, they value powerfully. To be aware of God's Love for you personally, means to be aware of how powerfully valuable you are to Them. And in receiving this knowledge of how powerfully valuable you are to Them, you receive at the same time, the knowledge of how powerfully valuable every child is to them, each one, no matter the color of their skin.

If the people of America and the Earth, took the Teachings of Christ to heart, on the subject of love, and worked with this quintessentially historically important Master of Love to developed this divine capacity of the heart, according to his commandment, a capacity of the heart that would speak to their souls regarding the value of every Child God has created, then Racism would not be a problem on this planet.

But of course Racism is a problem on this planet, and within the Republican Party to boot. Given the noble beginning of the Republican Party, the party of Abraham Lincoln, the Great Emancipator, who could have imagined that such a legacy could be left behind so completely?

I see that something I wrote above fits into the flow of ideas here, so I ask the reader's pardon for quoting myself:

"For the soul, the mind is the gateway to truth. And so, let the doors, long barred and bolted from within, be swung open. And let the light of truth flood into that mind now."

This points to an interesting fact about both the divine heart and the human mind. The divine heart is always the source of divine information. That's what it's there for. Currently, the (fallen) soul lives in a compartment of mind, self-sealed from the domain of light, outside of which, on the other side of the walls that comprise the structure of the lower mind, resides this ever present source of divine information within the divine heart. If you want to know how much God Loves (Values) you, then you get that information from the heart center of your own being. If you want to know how much God Loves (Values) your brothers and sisters, no matter the color of their skin, then you get that information in the same way, from the divine heart center of your own being.

But to allow that information to flood into your consciousness, you must work with the Heavenly Host to create a doorway within your own mind, a doorway, that when opened, will allow that light to flood into your mind. This doorway would be in your own mind, and once established, you will have control over whether it is open or closed. You can open and close it when you want to.

And what do the doorways of the mind look like? Doorways that allow light into the mind, are thought structures that represent spiritual truth. Walls that keep the light out of the mind, are what you might want to call mindless thought structures, multi-layered accretions that represent the substance of falsehood.

And so we see why the Master Jesus Christ said, that the truth shall set you free. Yes, he actually said that 2,000 years ago, and for good reason. If you could anchor pure truth in your mind, which would include the anchoring of truth within all subconscious domains, the walls would disappear, and the full light of God would flood into your mind, and you would KNOW, you would know how much God our Father and Mother value YOU, no matter the color of your skin. And each one of us can get there, by creating one doorway of truth, one doorway unto the light, after another.

However, a doorway into the mind is not something that is simply painted upon the inner wall. And it is no coincidence that we have such a rich and universal metaphor so closely at hand to help us all understand this. Indeed, home renovation.

Home Renovation

When it comes to your own home, if you want to place a doorway in a wall, and I am talking about a wall where there was no doorway before, the first thing you need to decide, before you do anything else, is what kind of door you want to install. Everything else will depend on that decision. So you need to go to your local Home Depot, and check out all of the different kinds of doors that are available, and choose the one you want. After you make this important choice, and after you pay for it, and have it delivered, the next thing you need to do is to make a hole in the wall, and then you need to install a door frame to hold the door, and then you need to hang the new door in the door frame. It is quite a construction project. You must alter the existing structure to install a new door. And you have to do it in a way that does not compromise the structural integrity of the home. And for most people, they will need to hire a professional contractor to do it for them. This is called home renovation.

It is much the same with the building of such doorways in the mind, though the soul plays an essential role in the anchoring of thought structures that represent spiritual truth. This explains why freewill is so important. This can only be done by the exercise of the freewill. And when I say anchoring, I really mean anchoring. If you want a doorway that you can open and close at will, this requires a structure of truth that is as solid as a physical door in the wall of your own home. For it to be useful to you, it is not something that can be here today and gone tomorrow.

Now, this metaphor could be extended and quite accurately so, to perfectly fit all the elements of the statement above. But the bottom line is that discipline in thought in the direction of God is the way to build such pathways of light into the mind.

The light is always there, the Love of God is always there, the care and concern and the valuing of God in relationship to you personally is always upon you, you just need to establish a pathway for that light to enter your conscious mind.

But the complexity of the task of establishing such pathways of light into the conscious mind are so formidable, that the assistance of a Divine Contractor is always required. This construction process cannot be accomplished by the soul on its own.

Where can you find a qualified Divine Contractor to help you in the establishing of these pathways of light into the conscious mind? The Master Jesus Christ is the President and CEO of a very large Divine Contracting Firm in this regard, an organization far larger than all the corporations combined that populate the economic landscape of civilization on earth. Hundreds of thousands of deputy contractors are employed which work with the people of every nation, and within every religious community on the earth (I have sheep not of this fold). And yes, what I have said here applies to every Child of God, no matter the color of their skin.

Every Child of God, no matter the color of their skin, if they want to know how much God Loves (Values) them personally, and how much God Loves (Values) each of their brothers and sisters, they can know this, and they are expected to know this. It is actually a criteria unto salvation for every person on the earth, notwithstanding various misconceptions that various people continue to entertain, indeed within minds wherein no pathways unto the light have been consciously built.

In honor of Christmas Day, and before moving on to the subject of racism and its presence within the Republican Party, I wanted to note that the home renovation metaphor provides a useful reference point that will help us to understand the meaning of an important statement made two-thousand years ago by the Master Jesus Christ, the Master of Love, the current President and CEO of a planet wide Divine Contracting organization. During his Galilean mission, the Master Jesus Christ said, "no man comes unto the Father but by me."

This statement is to be understood in the context of this essential process, whereby doorways of light are created within the otherwise impenetrable walls of the (lower) mind of the (fallen) soul, which, when installed, allow the Light of Truth to flood in, as we have been talking about, most importantly the truth about how much God our Father and Mother VALUE you, and all of their Children, each one, without regard to the color of their skin.

Creating doorways of light for this information to flood into the consciousness of the soul, which is essential for the reestablishment of an immovable foundation of self-worth within the soul psychology, and moreover, which is essential in grooming the soul to become an electrode of harmony within society, is a complex building process that can only be implemented by professional builders, those who are a part of this one Divine Contracting organization which operates under the guidance and direction of the President and CEO, the Master of Love, the Master Jesus Christ.

When the Master Jesus Christ made that statement two-thousand years ago, he knew what his assigned mission was to be for many thousands of years hence. God our Father and Mother had given to him the responsibility of heading up this effort to work with the fallen souls on this planet, to build these doorways of light into the conscious mind, the building of these pathways of light into the mind being a prerequisite unto salvation, for no soul can return to the heaven world without the aforementioned foundation of self-worth, and without having achieved a state of illumination that would allow him or her to be a harmonious contributor within the context of those higher divine civilizations.

As noted above, this organization serves the whole planet, and the needs of all people, in all nations, regardless of the color of their skin, and regardless of the religious traditions within which they have been born, and in most cases bound by tradition.

If any soul, in any tradition, has a genuine interest in the subject of God's Love, and the subject of God's Love is a fundamental factor in all traditions, the Master Jesus Christ, and his Divine Contracting organization are on the scene, helping the soul to build that doorway. Surely, if the soul understands what is going on, they can make much quicker process. If they understood that this doorway building process follows the criteria that the Master Jesus Christ set forth in his teachings regarding the preeminence of Love, they would make faster progress.

The complexity of the salvation process, should be noted. The Divine Contractor, and the subcontractor assigned to a particular door installation project have duties on both sides of the wall. They have duties to both inspire and guide the soul in the design of the doorway. They have the duty, and the job to install the actual doorway, when properly designed and properly anchored within the mind of the soul. This design and anchoring process is always a matter of the soul's freewill in the expression of a consistent determination over time, for all manner of distraction mechanisms must be overcome. They have the duty to teach the soul how the doorway is to be opened, if the soul allows it to swing closed, and this is a major issue to deal with, as there are many things within the fallen soul psychology that will slam closed these already installed doors. And when the calls are made for the door to be opened again, they have the duty and the responsibility to determine, after evaluating the progressional status of the soul, how far the door can be opened.

Remember, beyond the doorway is infinite light, infinite power, infinite love. At some point the soul will be able to receive, process, and constructively utilize a magnificent subset of that infinite power, that infinite light, that infinite love, but that state of internal development is a considerable distance down the road for most of the souls embodied on this planet. Until the soul reaches that level of development, the Divine Contractor has an ongoing responsibility to determine how much light comes through the door, when the door is open. And when one door is anchored and installed the goal is to inspire the soul to go for the installation of additional pathways of light, which require the installation of additional doorways, but one at a time. Working with the Master on these renovation projects will take the soul from a state of darkness, into a state of light. And the light that is within the mind will be the light of love, a light of illumination, exposing to the inner vision of the heart, a vast domain of information that love makes available, according to the purposes of God for a particular soul.

It is of course important to make note of this important fact, that for the soul who has fallen into darkness, and away from these essential domains of divine information, life on planet earth is the only place where this renovation work can be accomplished, and that these souls reincarnate upon this planet until the renovation work has been completed. The physical vehicle is specially designed to support this renovation work. It is designed to allow the soul to have the home the soul wants without regard to any principle or issue related to God, for a time. And it is designed to allow this renovation work to proceed forward once the soul understands the purpose of it, and agrees to it.

The idea that one's salvation, i.e. that this renovation work, is guaranteed through a simple belief in Jesus Christ is a major error entertained by too many who are members of the Christian Community worldwide. Belief in the Master Jesus Christ is important of course, but represents only one-half of the salvation/renovation equation. What you actually do with that belief while you are in embodiment on earth is the other half of the equation. The actuality of salvation is comprised of the work that we do in cooperation with Christ, while in embodiment, this renovation work, in building these pathways of light into the conscious mind and in making them permanent.

For example, the thought structures of truth that make this renovation work possible can only be anchored in the outer mind, the lower mind, the lower mind compartment, through the freewill affirmation of the soul. You must use your voice as the most important creative instrument that God gave to you, to anchor thought structures of truth within the mind. This is not easy work, as the structures of error that comprise the walls, don't want to move aside. It takes effort over time to accomplish your end of the work. And No one can do this for you. You must do this yourself. And you can do it. It is well to remember the word of the Prophet on this point, Thou shalt decree a thing and it shall be established unto thee. The soul, again, by freewill, initiates and sustains this process over time through prayer and affirmation. The participation of the Divine Contractor is activated and sustained over time through prayer and affirmation (knock and it shall be opened unto you - ask and you shall receive). And of course, and this is a key point, that the structure of truth that one is making the effort to integrate within the mind must at the same time be integrated into the whole life expression. The Master Jesus Christ can't do this for you, or for anyone. He surely has the power to install the doorways, but he can't lift a finger in this regard without the freewill effort of the home owner to make the incoming light mean something, lasting and constructive, for himself, his family, and his community, and nation.

On the Subject of Racism

And so, the Teachings of Christ are reduced to this nutshell proposition. The Reality of God's Love is the preeminent factor to be anchored in the consciousness of every soul on earth. Yes, the capacity to Value God, and what God has created, especially people, no matter the color of their skin, is at the top of the list. And moreover, the development of the capacity to know and understand how much God Loves (Values) you personally, and every child personally is a corresponding and tightly related requirement. This inner knowledge is the central electrode of universal harmony, and until a soul becomes one with that source of knowledge, the soul cannot be saved. It must return to earth as many times as it takes to master this task of working with the Divine Contractors to build permanent pathways of light into the mind.

And here we will return to the subject of what is eminently Anti-Christ by definition.

All factors that oppose the people's perception of God's Love, i.e. how much God our Father and Mother VALUE every child they have created, no matter the color of their skin, would be defined as a factor of Anti-Christ.

Racism is definitely a major factor in the composite expression of the spirit of Anti-Christ in this nation, and on this planet. The composition of the spirit of Anti-Christ is multi-faceted. Racism is not the only facet, it is one of many, but is always squarely in the category of the most universally destructive in relationship to the Love-Oriented purposes of God our Father and our Mother.

The First Mitigation Factor, then, has to do with the problem of Racism within the Republican Party, a mitigation factor that only the Republican Party can draw forth from the Heart of God our Father and Mother. Only Republicans can squarely face and reverse the entrenchment of racism within their own party.

Having this mitigation factor in their own hands, under their own control, in a very real way it could be said that the Republicans have the survival of America in their very own hands. But it is clearly our responsibility to encourage them to do the right thing for the good of the whole nation, keeping in mind that there are six (6) more Anti-Christ trends of national scope that need to be addressed before the oncoming storm can be mitigated to any substantial degree. But first things first.

The attitude of Racism is always in a mode of actively denying a very important and essential truth, that there is the presence of VALUE in our brothers and sisters, no matter the color of their skin. This attitude of truth-denial is brought into action by the perception of another's skin color. Whenever we reject the VALUE that God our Father and Mother have placed within one of their Children, that is an attitude of Anti-(Divine)Value, being therefore an attitude of Anti-(Divine)Love, and being therefore an attitude of Anti-Christ. Racism rejects the Teachings of Christ on the central subject of Love, and therefore is Anti (i.e. opposed to) the very heart of Christ's Teaching, and is thus Anti-Christ. Racism is one of the darkest threads of Anti-Christ sympathy that yet has a hold upon the souls of the people.

Sympathy or apologetics expressed in the direction of this force of Anti-Christ draws both the mind and the soul into the very shadow of the Planetary Anti-Christ which can be defined as the aggregate forcefield of all sentient beings, seen or unseen, which embody the spirit of hate. All facets of the aggregate spirit of Anti-Christ extend out of one common center of hate, which is hatred of God our Father and Mother. When an individual becomes resonantly attuned to one of the facets of the Anti-Christ, they become resonantly attuned to the central core of hate, and through that attunement with the central core of hate, will they become incrementally drawn into the expression of the other facets of Anti-Christ, as the force of hate breaks down and dissolves, over time, any and all previously established love-based moral boundaries.

Yes, the planet has a collective consciousness of hate. All who are aligned to hate are part of it. People who align themselves with any degree of racism are aligning themselves with that collective consciousness of hate, and this will always reduce, substantially, the quality of their lives, and the quality of life around them. The rise of Mitt Romney within the Republican Party, joined at the hip with the Monster of Mormon Racism as he was and is, has had a substantial degrading impact on the spiritual quality of life throughout the entire Republican Party.

Anyone who suspects that they might have a tinge of racism operating within their heart and mind needs to take a closer look, just as we have regular checkups for cancer. The cancer of racism can ultimately kill the soul.

When the people are drawn into the shadow of Anti-Christ, in this respect, or any other respect, the people's sense of the value of God, the relevance of God, diminishes, ultimately to zero. And in this shadow the purposes of God cannot be fulfilled in the earth, wherein, the further sponsorship of the development of civilization comes into question. And that is exactly at the point we are at today.

Point 1 above mentions several trends of Anti-Christ sympathy which have taken hold of the people, and in a manner so tenacious, that no human power exists upon earth that could shake the people free, leading to the judgment that there is nothing that can stop the downward trend of civilization from this point forward, without Direct Divine Intervention. This places a difficult choice before God our Father and Mother. They have had, and yet retain high hopes for America. This nation was to be their beacon of freedom for the planet, not just physical freedom, but spiritual freedom as well. But if things continue on in the same downward direction, there is no heavenly end for this culture, but only an expansion of already existing divisions and polarizations, unto a state of chaos, that will result in the destruction of all institutions of freedom on this continent. Light is not expanding in America today. But only darkness. Under these conditions, the goals which God our Father and Mother have for the salvation of the people are not attainable. America's reason for being has been turned on its head. A nation conceived in freedom, to be a beacon of spiritual freedom for the planet, will become a beacon of Anti-Christ sympathy, which will eventually express itself in a totalitarian form of government. If the heavenly host stand back and do absolutely nothing, this is the inevitable outcome. These trends unto ever mounting levels of Anti-Christ sympathy forbid any further investments of stabilizing power. It is always well to remember that America owes its wealth, prosperity and freedom to the investments God our Father and Mother have heretofore made in this nation, and that no good will come from the withdrawal of that investment activity. Continued dissolution unto chaos, and then consolidation of power in the hands of a few is the only outcome. The question is, how is the situation to be salvaged? The only choice left is to set in motion the law of karmic return. The law of karmic return requires that all the destructivity associated with all thoughts, feelings, and actions which extend out from the shadow of Anti-Christ sympathy must be returned to those who send these energies out. But God our Father and Mother hold the action of this law in abeyance to a substantial degree for the people of the earth as a matter of mercy for long periods of time. However, as the people trend more and more into a shadow of Anti-Christ sympathy their access to the mercy of the law eventually falls to zero. The American people have walked up to the very edge of the abyss in this respect. A portion of this karmic return has been released now for the purpose of shaking the people awake. If they actually wake up, there is hope that the redemptive potential that still resides in the soul of the people and the nation can be preserved. If they don't wake up, the end will come quickly and with a quick end there is mercy as well.

While there are several trends of Anti-Christ sympathy that the American people must deal with, the entrenched force of Racism within the Republican Party is the place we must begin. The original vision of the Pillar of Light given to me on the morning of December 24, 2012, as noted above, surrounding the Romney's Racist Heart Dot Com Neon Sign, tells us, that this is the first point of entrenched Anti-Christ Sympathy that God our Father and Mother want us to deal with. Dealing with this, and overcoming this is the First Mitigation Factor. Given the correlation of social and political forces in America, there is reason to believe that if this First Mitigation Factor cannot be fulfilled, that the other mitigation factors will remain out of reach, placing the survival of America as a free nation in serious question.

One of the hallmarks of an entrenched state of Anti-Christ sympathy is the inability of the individual so engulfed to recognize his or her own predicament. In this regard, both the Republicans and the Mormons will deny they have a problem with Racism.

- THE RING OF FIRE - Racism Allegations Surrounding The Republican Party Since 1964

A ring of fire, as it were, in the form of racist allegations, has surrounded the Republican Party since at least 1964 when the Republican candidate for the Office of the President of the United States, Senator Barry Goldwater, staked out a position of opposition to the Civil Rights Act of 1964, an historic and landmark piece of Civil Rights Legislation first initiated in 1963 by the late President John F. Kennedy, and carried through to enactment by his predecessor, Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964.

In the decade or so leading up to the 1964 presidential election, the U.S. Supreme Court was trending in the direction of giving more and more credence to the civil rights amendments that grew out of the Civil War period, amendments which had long been made unto a virtual dead letter by the U.S. Supreme Court during the 1870's. And this progress fanned up great hopes in the hearts and minds of America's African American Community, great hopes fanned up by the racial memory of not just centuries of slavery, but of the abuse and indignity inflicted upon them under the infamous Jim Crow laws over the 70 to 80 years following the period of post Civil War Reconstruction. The progress that the U.S. Supreme Court was making in correcting some of its past errors, inspired the African American Community to look to the U.S. Congress to pass companion enabling legislation to the Civil Rights amendments, which the U.S. Supreme Court, in its more progressive mood, would be likely to uphold. And a great movement went forth within the U.S. Congress to introduce and pass such legislation.

In the year 1964, the nation was riding the very crest of a wave of historic progress in the Civil Rights area. As a whole, the nation was leaning strongly in favor of this progress. Goldwater's opposition to the Civil Rights Act of 1964, while it allowed him to carry every state in the deep south in the 1964 presidential election, nevertheless cost him the election, losing in a landslide of unprecedented magnitude to Democrat Party's candidate, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Now, the Republican Party, under the leadership of Abraham Lincoln, had honorable beginnings in the area of race relations. Under Lincoln's leadership, the Union was Saved, slavery was ended, all of the essential post civil war, civil rights amendments, 13th, 14th and 15th, were proposed, and brought to ratification.

But these honorable beginnings were eclipsed by the failure of the Republican reconstruction program, and the descent of the south into a dark quagmire of racial oppression from 1880 to 1963, known as the Jim Crow years, the years of enforced segregation, a form of civil slavery if you will, amounting to a period of about 80 years of additional and unwarranted pain and agony inflicted on the African America Community in the southern states.

And so it was, that in this pivotal year in the Civil Rights struggle, 1964, the foregoing reservoir of good will had been fully eclipsed by the fact that over that 80 year period, the Republican Party had done nothing to alleviate the suffering of the African American Community in the South. And most importantly, this reservoir of good will was irreversibly polluted by the anger and contempt fanned into a wildfire status by what the Republican Party did in 1964.

The Republican Party nominated for the office of the President of the United States, an individual who voted against the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Senator Barry Goldwater. Yes, at the very height of the wave of Civil Rights Progress, cresting in the year 1964, Senator Barry Goldwater, standing in the national spotlight at this crucial time in history, and within the brilliant spot light of the 1964 Presidential campaign, stood up, and forthrightly, and with no apology, stabbed the African American Community in the back.

This act of the Republican Party was so stunning to the leadership of the Civil Rights movement in that day, that the late Dr. Martin Luther King felt compelled to issue a statement opposing Goldwater's nomination. Make no mistake about it. For the Civil Rights movement, this statement from on high had the force then, and has the force now, of the Word of God coming down from Mt. Sinai.

SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

July 16, 1964

STATEMENT FROM DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., ON REPUBLICAN NOMINATION OF SENATOR BARRY GOLDWATER.

It is both unfortunate and disastrous that the Republican Party has nominated Senator Barry Goldwater as its candidate for the Presidency of the United States. In foreign policy, Mr. Goldwater advocates a narrow nationalism, a crippling isolationism and a trigger-happy attitude that could plunge the whole world into the dark abyss of annihilation. On social and economic issues, Mr. Goldwater represents an unrealistic conservatism that is totally out of touch with the realities of the twentieth century. The issue of poverty throughout this land compels the attention of all citizens of our country. It is our conviction that Senator Goldwater has neither the concern nor the comprehension necessary to grapple with this problem in the fashion that the historical moment dictates. On the urgent issue of civil rights, Senator Goldwater represents a philosophy that is morally indefensible and politically and socially suicidal. While not himself a racist, Mr. Goldwater articulates a philosophy which gives aid and comfort to the racists. His candidacy and philosophy will serve as an umbrella under which extremists of all stripes will stand. In the light of these facts and because of my love for America, I have no alternative but to urge every Negro and every white person of good will to vote against Mr. Goldwater and to withdraw support from any Republican candidate that does not publically disassociate himself from Senator Goldwater and his philosophy. While I have followed the policy of not endorsing political candidates, I feel that the prospect of Senator Goldwater being president of the United States so threatens the health, morality and survival of our nation that I can not in good conscience fail to take a stand against what he represents. The King Center: [www.thekingcenter.org] [Emphasis added]

Over the course of the summer and fall of that election year, 1964, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was asked to comment on the Republican nomination of Senator Barry Goldwater whenever, and wherever he held a press conference. And these were many. On one of these occasions, Dr. King said that the election of Senator Goldwater would send the nation into a whirlwind of "violence and riots, the like of which we have never seen before." [Lee Edwards, Goldwater: The Man Who Made a Revolution (Washington: Regnery Publishing, 1995), p. 243]

Dr. Martin Luther King was more than a just your run-of-the-mill "liberal". He was the moving force behind the greatest wave of Civil Rights progress that has ever been made in this nation, an effort that was cresting in that very year, having achieved great accomplishments. More than anything else, he saw Senator Barry Goldwater from that perspective, as a mortal enemy to the Civil Rights Movement, one who articulated a philosophy, in King's words, "which gives aid and comfort to the racists." [King statement above].

Given the deep historical context of the situation, a history, and a memory, of pain, angst and passion extending into centuries past, Senator Barry Goldwater's unapologetic vote against the Civil Rights Act of 1964, was more than a case of someone being politically tone deaf on a particular issue of the day.

Consider the dramatic historic backdrop of the Civil War, the end to slavery, the high hopes associated with the Republican Reconstruction program, the high hopes associated with the civil rights amendments, and the heart wrenching shattering of all of these hopes, when the U.S. Supreme Court legitimized, in Plessey v. Ferguson (163 U.S. 537 , 1896), the segregation plans of southern racists, and the 80 years of agony that followed, inflicted on the African American Community through the whole of the south. These are deeply entrenched currents in fundamental American history. Where is the heart that cannot feel this pain? That heart, which cannot feel that pain, can only be the heart numbed by the cancer of racism. The fact is, that Senator Barry Goldwater did not feel that pain, and neither did the millions of Republicans who nominated him for the Office of the President of the United States.

And lo, 80 years later, the dawn of justice appears. The U.S. Supreme Court, in 1954, in Brown v. Board of Education (347 U.S. 483, 1954), overturned Plessey v. Ferguson, and ruled the segregationist practices of the southern state governments to be unconstitutional! Eighty years of pent of hopes, the hope of tens of millions, that justice is coming their way, burst forth like a sparkling springtime that many thought would never come again. Where is the heart that cannot feel these hopes? That heart, which cannot feel these hopes, can only be the heart numbed by the cancer of racism. Senator Barry Goldwater did not feel those hopes, and neither did the millions of Republicans who nominated him for the Office of the President of the United States.

Now, these long pent up hopes were put into action, and kept alive in the minor civil rights acts of 1957 and 1960, dealing in a preliminary manner with the issue of voting rights. These were important beginnings, but the African Community wanted the full plate of justice, not just a thimble full. And they marched in the streets, peacefully, for that full plate of justice, and they were brutally suppressed by the southern racists. This brutality was a feature of American news television during the year of 1963, which provoked President John F. Kennedy to address the civil rights issue from a national address from the oval office in the White House. [A recording of that address is included in the Video Record of RRHDC Neon Sign Installation which can be found on the website.]

As far as this full plate of justice is concerned, The Civil Rights Act of 1964, first proposed by John F. Kennedy in 1963, represented the Big Enchilada. Here, the most debasing, and demoralizing day-to-day structures of segregation were directly targeted for dismantlement pursuant to the provisions of the 14th Amendment, by federal enforcement power. (People may have long forgotten this, but this was the primary purpose of the 14th Amendment, to put a stop to the racist injustices in the southern states.) Only this would throw off the chains of civil oppression which then bound people of color, and their activities, day in and day out, allowing the African American Community to step with a great sigh of soul relief, into the full sunlight of freedom. Now, where is the heart that cannot feel the just and righteous expectations of these souls before this promise of real freedom? That heart, which cannot feel these just and righteous expectations, can only be the heart numbed by the cancer of racism. Senator Barry Goldwater did not register these just and righteous expectations, and neither did the millions of Republicans who nominated him for the Office of the President of the United States.

This much is obvious, and was obvious to all people who had a correct view of the historic dimensions of the civil right progress that was then being made. Senator Barry Goldwater entertained some sympathy with, or insensitivity to, the racism that was still white hot in the hearts of many southerners, which equates to a certain sympathy with, or insensitivity to, the injustices that African Americans had suffered under the yoke of this ongoing racism for a period of 80 years. This racist sympathy, and its inherent racial insensitivity, embodied by a majority of the Republican party, was showcased for all the nation to see and hear in the bright spotlight of the national presidential campaign of 1964.

And as Senator Barry Goldwater carried the banner of the Republican Party, the Republican Party was cast then and there, in the minds of the African American community, as a hotbed of racist sympathy, and so it has been ever since.

President Johnson carried the banner of the Civil Rights movement, and Barry Goldwater opposed it. At the very least, President Johnson communicated clearly that the Democrat Party wanted their vote, and was willing to go the extra mile to get it. Senator Barry Goldwater sent the opposite message, that he was not interested in the vote of the African American Community. This fact has become rooted as an immutable reference point within the racial memory of the African American Community in this nation. They will never forget this. Barry Goldwater, who carried the banner for the Republican Party in 1964, became a symbol for the racial insensitivity which characterized the attitudes of the Republican rank and file.

And so, that ring of fire, that burning belief that the Republican Party was racist at heart, which was white hot in those days, has smouldered there ever since, and explains why the minority communities in America favor the Democrat Party, over the Republican Party, consistently, year in, and year out, to a super majority extent. Yes, this fire, of racist allegation, with historical substantiation, directed at the Republican Party, smoulders constantly within every minority community in America.

How foolish and self-destructive it is to forget history.

In 1983, we came to another major historical event in the History of Civil Rights progress in this nation, where the people desired to honor the contributions that the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., made in the area of civil rights. The question presented at that time was whether Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., deserved to have a federal holiday named in his honor. The crucial vote was in the U.S. House of Representatives where a two-thirds majority was required for passage. At that time, the Democrat Party was in the majority, holding 266 seats, while the Republicans held 167 seats. The vote final vote tally was as follows:

Martin Luther King Holiday Vote in the U.S. House, 1983

| Votes       | Yea/Pct        | Nay/Pct       |
|--------------------|-----------------------|----------------------|
| Democrats   | 249(93.6%) | 13(4.8%)  |
| Republicans | 89(53.3%)  | 77(46.1%) |

The Republicans who voted in favor of the holiday provided the two-thirds majority for passage. But the main story is in the party percentages. Over ninety percent of the Democrats voted in favor of this measure. Less than 5% opposed it. In the Republican Party, the picture is vastly different. Nearly half of the Republican Party opposed this measure, while just over half approved of it.

The lesson to be learned here, is that racism had then, and has today, a substantial power base in the Republican Party.

In all of our history as a nation, a national holiday has been established for only three (3) people. They are:

- A. George Washington,
- B. Christopher Columbus,
- C. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The bestowal of this honor upon Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has sealed the goodness and wisdom of his civil rights efforts in an immutable aura of illuminated respect for all future generations. And I believe that the principle of truth and justice require this.

And in that regard, the Republican Party will continue down a path of egregious error, if they continue to minimize or discount the words spoken by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., in 1964, in relationship to the Republican nomination of Senator Barry Goldwater for the office of the President of the United States, as noted above.

Remember, of Goldwater, and by extension, the Republican Party who nominated Goldwater, King said, that the philosophy represented thereby, "... gives aid and comfort to the racists." King spoke an immutable truth then, and that truth stands today. Indeed it stands today, not only unaddressed by the Republican Party, but further substantiated by additional behavior in the same direction.

The Republican Party errs greatly in their continued denial of that truth, and in not taking the appropriate action to remedy the evil to which that truth points.

Now, in 2012, some 30 years later, we came to yet another major historical event in the History of Civil Rights progress in this nation, where for the first time in U.S. history, a major political party nominated a person of African American descent for the Office of the President of the United States, Senator Barack Obama. And another major event followed that nomination. Senator Obama was actually elected. And then yet another major event followed that election. President Obama was re-elected for a second term.

As we rounded each turn on this path of historic progress, the racist sympathy, and racial insensitivity of the Republican Party was on display for the whole nation to see.

This is both amazing and true at the same time. The Ghost of Senator Barry Goldwater was on the national stage, and under the national spotlight from the onset, for in the summer of 2008, to oppose the candidacy of Senator Barack Obama, the Republicans nominated Senator John McCain for president. Senator John McCain was not only a senator from Arizona, but he was the immediate successor of Senator Barry Goldwater. When Senator Barry Goldwater retired in 1986, then Congressman John McCain stepped in and won that seat in the U.S. Senate.

In the midst of yet another historic moment, the Republican Party was again oblivious to the fact that they were again in the very midst of another major event in the long history of the Civil Rights movement in this nation. Come on. In this historical context, why nominate someone that would bring the memory of Senator Barry Goldwater to life in the minds of the African American community? If you want their vote, this represents political suicide.

When President Obama stood for re-election in 2012, this was another historic moment in the long history of the civil rights movement. But did the Republican Party recognize this? No.

In fact, during the presidential election campaign of 2012, the racist sympathy, and racial insensitivity of the Republican Party was on greater display than ever before, leading credence to the old saying, that when the nose of the camel appears under the tent flap, that camel will be inside the tent before you know it.

Of course, it was self-evident to me, that it would be foolish to the extreme to fan up that pre-existing ring of fire, into a wildfire status, by nominating anyone, to the highest office in the land, who was an adherent to the white supremacist, anti-black ideology at the center of Mormon Doctrine.

Yet, that is exactly what the Republican Party did. The Republican Party nominated Mormon Bishop Willard M. Romney for the Office of the President in 2012.

This 2012 alliance between the Republican Party, and Mormon Racism, resurrects in spades, the rebuke delivered by Martin Luther King, Jr regarding the Republican nomination of Goldwater some 48 years earlier. King said then, that the Goldwater nomination would give "... aid and comfort to the racists." And so it could be said in a much more powerful manner in 2012, that the Republican nomination of Mormon Bishop Willard M. Romney, would likewise give, and did give "... aid and comfort to the racists."

For surely, a racist culture, that we see in the Mormon Community, which should be eschewed and marginalized by every person of good will, was given instead, a great boost in morale, and a public persona of respectability, national in scope, that it never had before.

And of course, the whole Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com effort, the giant neon sign in my front yard, was launched to get the attention of the Republican Party to the gigantic mistake they were about to make. But did they listen? No. As a hurricane bore down on

New Orleans, the Republican Party rushed the nomination of Willard M. Romney forward, and the rest is history. Romney lost the election, because he was a racist at heart, as all Mormons are — being religious adherents to a white supremacist, anti-black racist ideology, set forth in a story format in the Book of Mormon — and the minority communities, seeing behind the mask of denial, knew it to be true.

The Republican/Mormon Alliance

Historically speaking, the Mormon Community did not feel the need to deny their inherent and doctrinally based racism. They were proud of their doctrine, which indicates that their "God" is the author of racism, until the definition of political correctness in America turned irreversibly against them. In the midst of the great gains in the civil right areas discussed above made during the 1960's great pressure came upon them to align themselves with the nation of which they were a part. And so, in 1973, nearly a decade after the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was passed, the Mormons did away with their overt form of institutionalized racism, which denied people of color access to the "benefits" of the Mormon Religion. But this was only for public consumption. Their doctrine did not change. And their belief in that doctrine did not change. Today, the Mormons will deny that they are racist, even though Mormon Doctrine continues to teach, as their absolute truth, a white supremacist anti-black racist ideology through their Book of Mormon, the elements of which I have fully documented below. The following statement by one of Mormonism's most famous leaders, Brigham Young, has its doctrinal foundation in the Book of Mormon. This is what the Book of Mormon taught then, and continues to teach:

"... When the white man presents himself, you know him at once by his complexion; the same when you see darkness and blackness advancing, you know it is from beneath, and you can command it to leave your house. When the good man comes, he brings with him a halo of kindness which fills you with peace and heavenly comfort; invite him into your house, and make him your constant guest."

Prophet Brigham Young
Dec 18, 1853, Journal of
Discourses, Vol. 2, Page 135

Of course, the Mormon Community has had a long history of Racism which presented a full outward and unapologetic expression to the world up to 1973. Subsequently, in all efforts made to help the Mormon Community come clean regarding their Racist history, we see that they have chosen to coverup the past, rather than confront it squarely. And they are not covering up their past with the truth. They want us to believe that the racist views of the leadership of the Mormon Church was simply a matter of the culture of the time. That is false, and they know it. They know what the truth is, but they consciously cover up the fact that the racist views of the Mormon leadership were actually derived from passages from the Book of Mormon itself.

The principle of Truth requires 21st Century Mormon Leadership to admit that the views expressed by Brigham Young above, were faithfully derived from Mormon Doctrine itself, scriptural passages penned by Mormonism's founder Joseph Smith.

If they were to admit the truth in this regard, and even though they know they would be admitting the truth in that regard, that admission for them is deeply problematic. If they were to admit the truth, they would then be confronted with the problem that Mormon doctrine in this respect has not changed. If they would admit the first truth, they would then have to face this additional truth, that in their continued publication of the Book of Mormon, they consciously and willingly continue to promulgate a deeply evil racist doctrine.

Yes, indeed, the same scriptures, out of the Book of Mormon, that Brigham Young studied and honored, supposedly delivered from the very mouth of God, giving him the belief that people with black skin were inferior, or perhaps confirming what he already believed in that regard, is the very same doctrine that is published today in the Book of Mormon. The racist doctrine they publish has not changed.

The scriptures within the Book of Mormon which guided the thoughts of Brigham Young on this issue, is the same doctrine, within the Book of Mormon which guides the thoughts of Mormons on this issue to this very day. The doctrine is still there, the doctrine has not changed. The story line channeled by the pseudo-prophet Joseph Smith, that declared black skin to be a curse put upon people (who were once white) for their degenerative character, their skin made black by God to visibly mark them as having a degenerate character, and this, to help Mormons tell the difference between good people and bad people, it is the same story line that exists within the Book of Mormon today. This story line, which was sacred to the pseudo-prophet Brigham Young, is the same story line that is sacred to Mormons today. It is the word of their "god", which is not a god of truth, but a god of the big lie, a false idol fabricated by the forces of darkness and channeled through Mormonism's founder Joseph Smith.

This Mormon Black Skin Curse, a total character assassinating lie, was sacred to the mind of Brigham Young, and that same lie, the same destructive, character assassinating lie, is held sacred by the Mormon mind today.

If Mormons, as a group, were free of the dark stain of racism within their hearts, they would recognize the pain and suffering that this lie still inflicts on the African American Community to this very day, and feeling their pain, they would denounce that lie, and throw it out. But they do not recognize that pain and suffering. They only recognize the joyful currents of pride that flow through their minds in having a firm hold upon what they are taught to believe is the highest spiritual truth on the planet.

The Mormon community has been challenged to confront this lie within their doctrine, time after time, and they will not denounce it, they will not throw it out, and they will not stop the infliction of this pain upon the African American Community. This is the state of affairs that exists in the Mormon Community today, and it speaks directly to the proclivity unto racism exhibited by those who are drawn to Mormon doctrine.

Generally speaking, the whole superstructure of Mormon mythology is a tower of pride, that attracts people to it who have a need to feel superior to other people. All people who hate, hate themselves first. Isn't that right? They don't feel the Love of God in their lives, because they have shut that God out. This is a group of people who need people beneath them, in order for them to feel good about themselves, and Mormon Doctrine fulfills that need. The need to feel superior to other people is predicated on a disdain for the majority of the people, that extends out from their own self-disdain. This wide ranging disdain had expression in their founder Joseph Smith, who declared every other religion on earth to be a false religion, and proclaimed Mormonism as the only true religion. This is why Mormon missionaries have a smile on their faces. They are happy, because they are indoctrinated to believe that they stand on top of the spiritual heap. This illusion of being on top, insulates them from the self-hate they have buried deep down inside of themselves. Behind their smiles, this is what they are taught, and this is what they believe, even while they are the very instruments of promulgating a very poisonous hate inducing racist ideology throughout the earth through the publication of the Book of Mormon day in, and day out.

And this is what the Republican Party has joined itself with, at the hip, with their alliance with the Mormon Bishop Mitt Romney, an electrode of Racism that draws the ire, dislike, and overt hate of all minority communities.

Here we see the process of the dissolution of American Society unfolding before our very eyes.

The dissolution of our nation, America, will surely follow after the dissolution of America's institutions. And make no mistake about it. The Republican Party is an important institution in America.

Dissolution of institutions always follow the dissolution of principle within those institutions. And the dissolution of principle comes about when there are no people with strength left to stand up for what is right. Mormon Racism is Wrong. But who in the Republican Party is standing up and saying so? No one.

Surely, the disciples of Jesus Christ, the Master of Love, should have the requisite backbone to stand against the invasion of their party by the forces of hate. Yet, it was the Christian Community that allowed the Monster of Mormon Racism into the Republican Party, and allowed it to become entrenched therein. They simply sat on their hands.

As the old saying goes, when the camel sticks his nose under the tent flap, if you don't do something quick, the whole camel will be inside the tent before you know it.

The underlying composition of the Mormon Mind, a substructure of hate, is amply illustrated by the polygamy issue. Here, the basic psychological foundation of low self esteem, that requires them to have people beneath them in order to feel good about themselves, as we see in the racism issue, as we see in the disdain of the religious community on earth generally, is clearly evident in the polygamy subject area as well.

In the polygamy scenario we see the low self-esteem of the women, who don't have enough self-respect to understand that each woman deserves a man all unto herself. And we see the very low self-esteem of the males, who must have women as a class, beneath them, as a group in bondage, in order for them to feel good about themselves. And we see in the male the expression of the hate/disdain substructure in the devaluing of women as a class, designing a family structure that signals to the women, that one woman doesn't have very much value, that is why the men need so many of them under their feet. It's like pennies in contrast to gold coins. If you only have access to pennies, you need a lot of them to have any real wealth. In this scenario, both cannot have the other under their feet, only one can be on top, and it had to be the male on top, as he is the stronger, but the women are ok with that, as long as they are together, as Mormons, above everybody else, and as noted Mormon Doctrine gives them that belief, they have the only true religion on the earth. Everybody else walks in darkness.

True enough, the Mormons were forced to abandon the practice of polygamy because of the law enforcement pressure put upon them by federal authorities. But the scriptural basis for polygamy, the teachings of Joseph Smith on polygamy, and the practice of polygamy by all the original leaders of the Mormon Church, including Brigham Young, are still sacred within the Mormon mind, and polygamy still represents what they believe to be a God-ordained truth, a God-ordained pattern of living to which they will return once the outer law enforcement shackles are removed. The same thinking goes with their white supremacist anti-black racist ideology. Once the shackles of 21st Century "political correctness" are thrown off, they will be free to put the black man back in his proper place, a place assigned to him, not by them, but by (their) "god."

The polygamy issue, alongside the racism issue, represents a pair of fundamental examples of the actual worship of the very spirit of Anti-Christ, i.e. Anti-Love. God our Father and Mother who create out of Love, create skin colors on the basis of Love. Just as they choose all kinds of different colors for flowers, they chose many different colors for the skin that their children would wear while in physical embodiment. Every skin color is a statement of Love.

In making dark skin color a statement of God's Hate, Mormon doctrine assassinates the very character of God, and distorts that character in the minds of all Mormons. Joseph Smith has these people worshipping a god of hate.

And what about the impact this has on the psychology of people with black skin? What else can this do but force them to see God as a god of hate? And from the standpoint of the women who are supposedly created for a polygamous family structure, what are they to think of God, who values them so little, as to not provide a faithful husband for their own? The ongoing belief, within the Mormon Community, in the "divine perfection" of the polygamous family structure that bends the psychology of women into a posture of self-hate, and resentment against God, points to the worship of an outlandishly destructive falsehood.

Where minds are bent and distorted against the flow of love and value, where love and value should flow, you have the operation of the spirit of Anti-Christ.

As to the fundamental presence of the spirit of hate within the Mormon Mind, we can point to another sacred statement made by Brigham Young.

"Suppose you found your brother in bed with your wife, and put a javelin through both of them, you would be justified, and they would atone for their sins, and be received into the kingdom of God. I would at once do so in such a case; and under such circumstances, I have no wife whom I love so well that I would not put a javelin through her heart, and I would do it with clean hands."

Brigham Young, "Instructions to the Bishops, Etc.,"
Journal of Discourses, reported by G.D. Watt 16 March 1856,
Vol. 3 (London: Latter-Day Saint's Book Depot, 1856), 247.
The entire sermon is on pages 243-249.

My only point in presenting this interesting statement to the reader is to make the point that the spirit of love could not possibly be in the heart or soul of an individual who could actually visualize such a scenario and then speak about that scenario in public, before a group of people. That mind exists in a very dark shadow of hate. And all who gather around his feet, as all Mormons do, feel comfortable there.

Surely it speaks to the de-evolution of the Republican Mind that they would associate themselves with an organization, through Mitt Romney, which carries such hateful baggage.

Were they blind to this hateful baggage in their quest to defeat the object of their own hatred, one black-skinned Barrack Obama?

If the reader is familiar with the case of Donald Sterling, the former owner of the NBA basketball team, the Los Angeles Clippers, I would recall that when it became publicly known that Sterling harboured the spirit of racism in his heart, caught on tape asking his girlfriend not to sit with anyone of African American descent at basketball games, the appropriate recompense came upon him. The NBA took the ownership of the team away from him. Yes the NBA divorced themselves quickly from Donald Sterling. And rightfully so. That is the appropriate no-tolerance standard in a modern society. We will not tolerate racism, any more than we will tolerate child molestation.

However, in a glaring and startling juxtaposition, we see that the Mormons continue to validate their unbreakable tie to the spirit of racism by allowing the name of this historic racist Brigham Young to adorn their prestigious Brigham Young University.

Now, the NBA has set the standard of appropriate policy when it comes to dealing with associated public personages who harbor racism in their hearts. The NBA was clearly not interested in having the image of their organization stained with the imprimatur of racism, nor were they interested in having their organization used to promote in any way any degree of sympathy with racism.

In like manner therefore, understanding the damage which the image of Brigham Young inflicts on race relations, the Mormon Leadership should follow the lead of the NBA, and divorce the name of Brigham Young from their university, a divorce that would allow them to choose a more appropriate name for their institution of "higher education".

Will it ever come to pass the the Mormon Church will remove the name of Brigham Young from that university? No. They are not psychologically capable of doing this. The fact that they are not psychologically capable of doing this allows a certain banner of truth to wave high over the whole subject area, one that we should all pay attention to.

This banner of truth, represented by the continued association of the name of Brigham Young with their institution of "Higher Education", will tell us, that they believe in their hearts what Brigham Young said above is actually true, that his words were simply a faithful representation of exactly what the teachings of Joseph Smith contain. The world may think that Brigham Young was racist, but they will never believe that. They believe that "god" turned the skin of people, who began white, to black, to mark them as having degenerate characters. That is what their scripture says, and that is what they believe. And Brigham Young was only telling the "truth" and that is why his name will be forever adorning their institution of "higher education". In their minds, Brigham Young is a truth teller, not a racist. Thanks to Joseph Smith the Mormon community is literally trapped in the belief that their "god" is the author of what everybody else defines as "racism", and because "god" is the author of "racism", racism cannot be a bad thing, it can only be a good thing, and being a good thing, it cannot be "racism" in their minds. They will never say so publically, but the continued association of the name of Brigham Young with their university tells us this is what they believe in their hearts.

Again this is what the Republican Party has joined itself with, at the hip, with their alliance with the Mormon Bishop Mitt Romney, an electrode of Racism that draws the ire, dislike, and overt hate of all minority communities. What possible advantage could there ever be to an alliance with a community that not only refuses to divorce itself from the spirit of racism, but appears to be incapable of doing so?

There is no need to wonder why the Republicans have not yet divorced themselves from the Mormons, and of course why they have not lifted a finger to fight Mormonism's continuous publication of a white supremacist, anti-black racist ideology through the Book of Mormon. It is because the sympathy for racism they harbour in their own hearts will not allow for that divorce. Yes this psychological posture that the Mormon Scripture takes, looking down their nose at people with black or brown skin, a substantial number of Republicans share. It is a psychological posture, a posture that is integral to the spirit of Anti-Christ, which persuades the person engulfed in that shadow of falsehood, that the racism issue is not a big deal, and there are far more important issues to address. For example, let us continue whipping, at every opportunity, the first African American President in U.S. History.

And that explains why the Republicans could turn a blind eye to Mormonism's historic and ongoing association with the spirit of racism, and nominate for the position of the President of the United States, a devotee of this Mormon Doctrine. It speaks to the presence of the shadow of racism in their own hearts, a shadow which devalues TRUTH, in search of political power. The fact that they could care less what pain and anguish the election of Mitt Romney (to the highest office of the land) would have inflicted on the African American Community, speaks to the presence of a dark spirit within them, a dark spirit that represents the very opposite of love and respect, the very shadow of Anti-Christ. At this point in the discussion the reader should remember that I am using the term Anti-Christ to denote a spirit of non-love that rests heavily upon consciousness of an individual, placing a shadow over the light of the heart, where the forces of love are not allowed to animate action, where the forces of fear and hate alone animate the mechanisms of both the mind and the mouth.

If any Republican reading this says in their hearts, that does not apply to me, and I don't want it to apply to my Party, well, now is the time to stand up and take your Party back from the forces of racist sympathy who control it today. Just as Christ chased the money changers out of the temple, surely it is your duty to chase the racists out of your own political party.

The future of America depends on you doing just that. If your Republican Party is not a racist party, now is the time to stand up and prove it, and thereby build a bridge of appreciation and respect into every minority community in the nation.

Every time Mitt Romney stands up on the soapbox to speak for the Republican Party, a soapbox you gave him by your vote, you allow the further entanglement of the Republican Party with the spirit of Racism associated with Mormonism. The Republican/Mormon Alliance must be broken. This divorce must be complete and final. And the racist history of Mormonism must be repudiated with the loudest voice the Republican Party can muster. Mormonism and the stink of racism they carry with them everywhere they go, must be declared persona non grata within the ranks of the Republican Party henceforth.

For this mitigation factor to be fulfilled, the Republican Party must recognize their error in trying to elevate the Monster of Mormon Racism into the highest office in the land, they must recognize their blindness and insensitivity to the minority communities in America, and for this they must apologize, they must repent, and seek the intercession of Christ to sweep their hearts clean from this dark shadow, allowing it to be replaced with the very Power and Reality of Christ's Love. If this does not happen, no other mitigation factor can come into play, and America will not survive the oncoming storm.

The Pillar of Light will remain towering over the landscape of America to assist the Republican Party in overcoming the onslaught of doubt and scepticism that will attack every mind at the hearing of these words, allowing every Republican to stand steady, and to soberly reflect on what must be done to ensure the survival of America. Fix your mind on the magnitude of this Pillar of Light. In this magnitude is the Love of God our Father and Mother for their children, and their desire for these Children to wake up, and take the action necessary to understand why this storm has come upon them, and what they must do to mitigate it, and what they must do to guard America from ever receiving another such unwelcome visitation (self-inflicted as it was).

The Pillar of Light is intended to give the people a reference point for REALITY that will help them to face and overcome the operation of doubt in their worlds. People routinely allow doubts, masquerading as wisdom, to divert attention from important truths, to alternate scenarios, which masquerade as truth, but are in fact falsehoods. And this process by which the attention is diverted from important truths is the vehicle through which the shadow of Anti-Christ enters, and becomes entrenched within the mind and the soul of man. As Republicans go through the inner struggle related to what I have said about the issue of racism above, please make constant reference to the Reality of the Pillar of Light. It is here to provide a point of validation for the points I bring forward as the Steward of this Pillar of Light.

Anyone who will not directly face the components of racism in Mormon history, and the components of racism in current doctrine, and especially in the Book of Mormon, and who will not repudiate these with the loudest voice they can muster, and repudiate the alliance the Republicans have made with this spirit of racism, has a heart that is bound by the forces of racism itself. These chains that bind them to the shadow, that block their movement in the direction of truth, and block their movement in support of the truth, only the Power of Christ can break. All Republicans who find a point of resonance within their hearts with what I say here, must set aside time to pray for the intercession of Christ on a daily basis for the breaking of these chains for the complete exorcism of the spirit of racism from the Republican Party. The future of America depends on it.

The American people owe Americans of African Descent, as a class, an appropriate form of restitution that will lift them up, as a class, above the weight of psychic gravity associated with the practice of slavery in this nation over the course of more than 200 years. No other class of people in America has this weight of history grinding down upon them relentlessly day in and day out. The fact that Republicans don't recognize this, that they don't understand the implications of this, speaks to the cancer of racism they continue to indulge within their hearts, and within their party.

One hundred and sixty years after the promulgation of President Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, the problems we still see in race relations in America, illustrated quite clearly by the Donald Sterling event earlier this summer, and the unrest that erupted in Ferguson Missouri after the killing of an unarmed youth of African American descent, tells us that as a culture we have entertained too shallow of a definition for the central principle of emancipation.

Emancipation is the core identity of the Republican Party to which the Republican Party must return with a deeper understanding, and a deeper commitment.

Steven S. Showers, Founder,
Romneys Racist Heart Dot Com
Messenger of the Pillar of Light
December 25, 2014

Email: Romneys.Racist.Heart@gmail.com